

JÖRG USINGER

PARTNER, BEHNISCH ARCHITEKTEN, STUTT GART

Jörg Usinger, born in 1966 in Frankfurt/Main, Germany, studied architecture at the RWTH Aachen and the former Technical University of Karlsruhe. After obtaining his diploma in 1993, he joined Behnisch & Partner, the practice of Günter Behnisch, where he was responsible for a number of award winning-competitions and projects. Since 2005, Jörg worked with Behnisch Architekten and gained extensive experience as a project manager in numerous projects. Between 2003 and 2012 he was a visiting lecturer at the Institute for Construction Economics, University of Stuttgart. In 2017 he became partner at Behnisch Architekten Stuttgart and leads the office in collaboration with Michael Innerarity and Stefan Rappold.

PROJECTS (SELECTION)

- Dieter Morszeck Biorepository, Heidelberg, Germany
- NCT National Center for Tumor Diseases, New Building and Expansion, Heidelberg, Germany
- KIT Energy Lab 2.0, Eggenstein-Leopoldshafen, Germany
- Dorotheen Quartier, Retail, Offices and Inner City Living, Stuttgart, Germany
- Institute for Technical Physics, Karlsruhe Institute of Technology, Eggenstein-Leopoldshafen, Germany
- BadenCarreè, Inner City Living, Karlsruhe, Germany
- Thermal Spa Römerbad, Bad Kleinkirchheim, Austria
- NORD/LB (North German State Clearing Bank), Hannover, Germany
- LVA Landesversicherungsanstalt (State Insurancy Agency) Schleswig-Holstein, Lübeck, Germany

PROFESSIONAL DESIGNATIONS

- Registered Architect: Baden-Württemberg, Germany

PROFESSIONAL

Since 2017	Partner, Behnisch Architekten, Stuttgart, Germany
Since 2009	Project- and Quality Management
2005-2015	Senior Architect, Behnisch Architekten, Stuttgart, Germany
2003-2012	Assistant at the University Stuttgart, Germany
1993-2005	Architect in Behnisch & Partner, Germany
1990-1992	Assistant at the Technical University, Karlsruhe, Germany

EDUCATION

1989-1993	Technical University of Karlsruhe, Diploma in Architecture
1987-1989	RWTH Aachen