2019–2024

Located in Heilbronn’s model district of Neckarbogen, the Josef-Schwarz-Schule is one of Germany’s most forward-looking school projects. The bilingual, all-day school brings together primary, lower secondary, and upper secondary education on a campus of approximately 60,000 square meters. Conceived as an ensemble of three interconnected buildings, the design promotes learning, movement, and social interaction through an open spatial structure.
