Stuttgart, DE

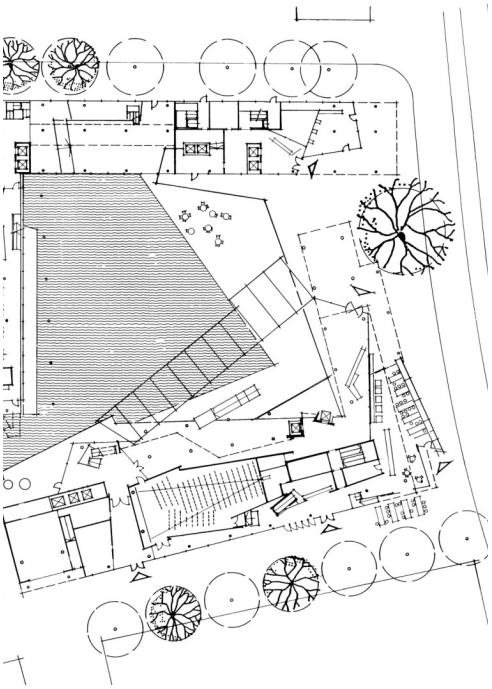

1992–1997

Located in the heart of Stuttgart, the new administrative center for the Landesgirokasse Bank (now BW Bank) occupies an entire city block and houses facilities for more than 1,000 financial services staff. Sensitive massing, the humanizing rhythms of the facades, and the introduction of semi-public programs—a cinema and restaurant at ground level—ensure that the building avoids the character of an urban monostructure.
